

FOWLER de PLEDGE

Solicitors

Client Data Privacy Policy

We collect and use personal data (information which directly or indirectly identifies a client) as follows:

- Where its collection and use is necessary to perform a contract or contracts; or
- Where it is in the interests of the client; or
- Where it is necessary to comply with our legal or regulatory obligations; or
- Where we have consent; or
- For the purposes of our own legitimate interests.

We keep such data for as long as we need it but as a general rule 6 years.

Consent may be withdrawn by a client at any time but will not affect other grounds on which data is held or used.

Clients may request a summary of the personal data we hold on them.

At times we will share data with third parties but will limit that to the personal data that is necessary.